

In the Beginning

John's gospel begins in a way that none of the others do. This does not make it any "better" than another gospel account, but it certainly sets itself apart thematically. When one reads the book of John, he/she will immediately be reminded of the very first words of the Genesis. These were the very first words of God's revelation to man. The first three verses of John's gospel offer a simple yet impactful message to its readers. The reader learns three things: Christ was in the beginning, Christ made everything, and Christ is God. Every Christian ought to realize and be reminded that he/she serves the eternal God who made everything seen and unseen. God is the Lord over time, the Lord over creation, and the Lord of Lords. What then is expected of me? Where do I fit into the mix? Perhaps the answer to that important question can be found further down the page in verse 12. "But as many who received Him, He gave to them the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His name." Let us never forget how great and mighty the Lord is; moreover, let us never forget the great opportunity we have to be His adopted children.

A New Year Eric Gott

For me, the days between Christmas and New Years always feel like time stands still. It's a time when Leah and I reflect on the past year and focus on our hopes and goals for the new year. I have never been one to make New Year Resolutions mainly due to lack of preparation once December comes. However, I do like to focus on a specific word as a personal theme for the new year. I like to find a word that can guide my decisions and ideas and be a focal point throughout each month.

Over the past few days, I have reflected on the children's ministry here at Riverchase. A year ago, I had many hopes and dreams for 2020. I was preparing to leave for my annual children's ministry conference, and I was eager to begin planning events for the summer. We were meeting for LTC practices, and Leah and I were working with the chorus. We were also in the early stages of our foster journey and unaware that our first placement was coming to an end. As we all know, 2020 did not go as planned for anyone. In March, our church began navigating the pandemic, and we learned to adjust and adapt to new circumstances. Gone were many of the events I was looking forward to doing. Gone were many of the gatherings. Gone was hugging friends, meeting for Bible class, and spending regular time together. Yes, 2020 had many blessings and positives, too. We learned to slow down, we learned to focus on family, and we learned not to take small things for granted. Ultimately, we learned God is in control.

As I reflected on the past year, the word that kept coming to mind was connect. For me, I want 2021 to be filled with connections.

I want 2021 to be a year where we as a church are connecting more with Christ.

I want 2021 to be a year where our children's ministry families are connecting more as a family unit.

I want 2021 to be a year where we are connecting more with our brothers and sisters to create a stronger Church community.

Have you ever focused on a word for the new year, too? If not, take time this week to explore your goals, thoughts, and ideas. What do you hope the new year brings? I would love to hear your thoughts as well.

Paul's Advice

2 Timothy 2: 15 Be diligent to present yourself approved to God as a worker who does not need to be ashamed, accurately handling the word of truth (NASB).

This verse is a good reminder of how every year we must commit to work hard to become who God wants us to be. First, Paul instructs Timothy to "be diligent." That meant Timothy needed to be ready to work, and he needed to make haste in that readiness. There is a sense of urgency that needs to be initiated from one's self. Timothy was asked to hurry to take initiative in order to present himself to God. "To present" means to show up and be ready to take orders. To be present is not just being there, but rather being there in order to make a difference. "Approved" means that there are certain requirements that need to be in order. People who wear uniforms understand this concept. They don't just show up in any fashion, they have to respect the uniform. "To God" means that the approval we need is God's and not man's. Sometimes we forget this. Timothy as a young Gospel preacher needed to be reminded that he serves God and His people, but more than anything, he needed the approval of God.
